TRIP TRAP
BY SKAGERAK

Beauty is said to come from within. That is how we feel too. To us, beauty goes far beyond appearance. It is about what is inside and what is meaningful in the long run. About an open and honest approach to creating designs for indoor and outdoor use that last a lifetime and grow old with grace, because they are of the finest quality. And can withstand being used again and again.

Design should also be meaningful at a general level. To us and to others. As a producer we are therefore committed to acting responsibly and showing the world that we have taken a stance towards how to do what we do. This includes ensuring sustainable methods of production, transparent cooperations and working conditions that we can vouch for. For the sake of our own generation and the ones to come.

Of course aesthetic also plays an important role, for we greatly appreciate good design. From where we stand, good design remains functionally and visually interesting decade after decade. And, a bit like old love, it remains unshaken despite the winds of change. We make genuine design, for that is what we know best. This is one of the reasons why our Riviera sunbed by Poul Eskildsen can celebrate its 25th anniversary this year. It is not the result of any trend but of a love and honesty towards expression and function. Precisely therefore, it represents the kind of design that we are proud to present at Trip Trap.

Good design is made by someone who has taken the time and made the efforts to do it right from the beginning. It is part of our DNA to ensure that people of all ages find joy in our designs. In that way they become a natural part of our lives when we have time off, alone or with others. To us, this is something to be proud of – and something we are proud to pass on.

Best regards,
Vibeke and Jesper Panduro
